COURSE HIGHLIGHTS

This course is set out to meet the requirements of ISO 27001:2013, which specifies that it is imperative to address security issues at the employee level.

Maintaining compliance with the Standard shouldn't be the only reason for companies to carry out information security awareness training. Sharing knowledge of cyber attacks and best practices to prevent or avoid such threats will be beneficial to any information security and cyber security strategy.

WHAT WILL YOU LEARN?

Find out about information security and how you fit in / The ISO 27001 standard and what it means for your organisation / Explore information security risks in the work environment / Know your organisation's information security policies
